How has your view on fatherhood been challenged/changed? All of us who are fathers will experience conviction as we look honestly at the biblical calling of fatherhood; freely confess your failings, receive forgiveness through Christ, and then with a renewed understanding of your weakness and your need for the provision of your heavenly Father, look honestly at where you need to go - then get behind the plow and get to work. Remember, this is what God has called you to if you have children, and you do NOT do it to get right with God. You are free to get at it because you have been made right with God in Christ, and you put your hands to the task, if you are a believer, under the smile of your Father. Prayerfully reflect back over the message. For those who are women, may these things drive you to prayer for all the fathers in your life, as well as your brothers in Christ who have been called to Fatherhood.
